

SHARON PROBERT
EVOLVE

The film features the voices of Everard Read's 100 Art Always practitioners - which reflects on the film and South Africa's 100th anniversary. The film is a celebration of the country's rich history, the people who have shaped it, and the challenges it faces. It is a story of resilience, of the people who have built a nation from the ground up, and of the hope that lies ahead. The film is a testament to the power of art to bring people together, to tell their stories, and to inspire change. It is a story that is as relevant today as it was when it was first told. It is a story that is a testament to the power of art to bring people together, to tell their stories, and to inspire change. It is a story that is as relevant today as it was when it was first told.

MMAKGABO HELEN SEBIDI
WOMEN IN CONVERSATION

Everard Read's award to present these sculptural new sculptures by national icon Mmakgabo Helen Sebidi. These human figures, originally created to care for the pandemic, have been transformed into a powerful statement on the role of women in our society. The sculptures are a testament to the strength and resilience of women, and to the ways in which they have shaped our world. They are a reminder of the power of women to bring about change, and to the ways in which they have built a better world for all of us. The sculptures are a testament to the strength and resilience of women, and to the ways in which they have shaped our world. They are a reminder of the power of women to bring about change, and to the ways in which they have built a better world for all of us.